After 8 years of live classroom pre-licensing programs and 8 years of correspondence or "distance learning", many students have found working one on one with their own private instructor through correspondence to be easier, faster, and less expensive than traditional classroom programs. The result is a more informed, self-motivate, independent real estate professional.

BENEFITS

- eliminates travel
- relieves confusion from diverse backgrounds, learning styles, personal agendas
- creates a more realistic exposure to those responsibilities of real estate agents
- encourages more one-on-one instructor time
- allows student to work at their own pace

SUMMARY

The correspondence program takes an average person 4 to 6 weeks to complete by working 2 to 3 hours a day for a 5 day week. A time managed worksheet is provided along with estimated completion times for each of 8 modules of study. At the end of a module, students review their computerized results. Student with less than an 80% are encouraged to contact a Quality Workshops' correspondence instructor for assistance.
